

Painting Trees in Watercolour at Stable Studio

With Ronald Swanwick FRSA

This Workshop is for those who know a little about watercolour and are wanting to develop their skills. If you are interested in learning to create more detail or perhaps you want to 'loosen up' this course will give you what you are looking for. You will be able to choose your own subjects and the tuition will be very much on a one to one basis.

Stable Studio is the perfect venues for painting trees. It has a wonderful selection of specimen trees in the surrounding area and is only fifteen minutes drive from a wonderful arboretum. There is also a canal near by for reflection effects.

The tuition will cover painting trees in the four seasons; skeletal trees, autumn and spring colour and how to make summer trees look more interesting.

The maximum number on this break will be six. Lunch, teas and coffees are included.

Bring your own materials and equipment.

You also need to bring a portable chair.

I can provide all materials and equipment for a small charge.

The break will begin with a short demonstration of various techniques on the first morning.
